The second half of the 20th century was marked by critical challenges to anthropological practice and theory by breaking away from “grand,” generalizing, objectivity-focused, modernist, and Eurocentric theories towards questioning the biases and power relations embedded in representation of the others and the researcher’s positionality in anthropological accounts. As a result, there emerged an array of theories that critically account for the salience of gender, class, ethnicity, race, and nationality, not only among the people studied by anthropologists but also among anthropologists themselves.

Although not a comprehensive overview of all contemporary theories, this reading-intensive and discussion-intensive course will serve as a map for this theoretical diversity. We will begin by reviewing the late 20th century developments in postmodernism, postcolonial theory, the influence of Marx and Foucault, practice theory, embodiment, feminist anthropology, and globalization. Then we will proceed to the texts published in the 2000s on a range of issues from media, science and technology, violence, affect, migration and citizenship to engaged anthropology, ontology, and personhood. We will discuss major theoretical debates and ongoing controversies that emerge from different scholarly views on how to make sense of the changing world and what should be the position of anthropologists within it. Thus, we will learn how anthropologists think and write about social formations and human experience and describe the complexity of everyday and exceptional forms of life.

ANTH 2111 complements ANTH 2110’s historical perspective on anthropological theory.

Learning outcomes

By the end of this course, students will be able to do the following:

• name key theorists in anthropology and other disciplines who have influenced the development of anthropology in the second half of the 20th and the beginning of the 21st century
• identify major anthropological theories, concepts, genres, and debates of this period
• explain the strengths and weaknesses of the examined theories and theoretical concepts
• provide examples of the application of the examined theories to ethnographic studies and the everyday life
Learning material
Prior to each lecture you are required to read an assigned Textbook Chapter and at least one Primary Text, as indicated in Class Schedule.

Textbook chapters are NOT posted on Blackboard but are available electronically:

Primary Texts are posted on Blackboard. I strongly encourage you to read or skim all assigned Primary Texts, especially if you have not read the works of the assigned scholars previously. However, for the tutorials, you will need to know only one Primary Text in detail; the rest of the texts are optional and are marked with an asterisk*.

Useful resources

- The Cambridge Encyclopedia of Anthropology (CEA) is a great teaching and learning resource hosted at the University of Cambridge. It has comprehensive articles on key anthropological concepts, theories, and scholars http://www.anthroencyclopedia.com/articles-a-to-z

- If you need concise definitions of the concepts that you encounter in readings and lectures, check out this glossary of theory terms: http://www.utpteachingculture.com/teaching-theory/glossary-of-theory-terms/

Assessment

Discussing Theory: Blackboard Forum: 20%
For any ten weeks of your choosing (except Week 1), you will need to submit one forum post and at least one response to your classmates’ comments, both pertinent to the assigned readings. It can be a brief summary of key arguments, your analysis of and reflection on the readings, or questions and doubts. The posts should not be long—two-three sentences will do.
Due: your own comment should be posted by midnight before the class to allow substantial time for your classmates to reply and for me to go over the discussion.

YouTube theory analysis: 10%
Find a short video clip that explains a contemporary theory/concept covered in class and write a critical summary of it. Post it on Blackboard at any time before the last lecture, November 28.

Mid-term exam: 30%
To ensure that you are familiar with the main scholars, theories and concepts, we will have an in-class exam which will include multiple-choice, true-or-false, and fill-the-gap questions. The midterm exam will last 50 minutes, and we will continue the class after a break.
October 17 in class. NO MAKE-UP EXAM

Final exam: 40%
The take-home final examination will include short-answer questions based on the entire material of the course. The questions and the guidelines will be handed out on the last day of class.
Due December 12, 23:59 via VeriGuide
Grade descriptors

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Course Achievements</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>Outstanding performance on all learning outcomes: your written work and class participation demonstrate a nuanced understanding of the introduced concepts, factually accurate information, and convincing argumentation. All work is original, of required length and format, and submitted on time.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A-</td>
<td>Generally outstanding performance on all (or almost all) learning outcomes: most of your written work and class participation demonstrate a nuanced understanding of the introduced concepts, factually accurate information, and convincing argumentation, even if occasionally contain minor errors. All work is original, of required length and format and submitted on time.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B+</td>
<td>Substantial performance on all learning outcomes, OR high performance on some outcomes which compensates for less satisfactory performance on others: your work and class participation show an overall good understanding of class material but may vary in clarity, contain a lot of minor factual errors, or slightly deviate from required length and format. All work is original and submitted on time.</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>D+</td>
<td>Barely satisfactory performance on a number of learning outcomes: your work and class participation show a low level of engagement and persistent distraction by the use of mobile phones or other technology. Your written assignments are original, but they show minimal understanding of class material, lack of clarity, major factual errors, considerably deviate from required length and format, and/or are submitted late.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F</td>
<td>Unsatisfactory performance on most learning outcomes, OR failure to meet specified assessment requirements. Most of your assignments are submitted late or not submitted at all, they are extremely short, factually incorrect, and/or contain instances of plagiarism.</td>

Policies and Support

Educational Technology

This class relies on the use of Blackboard. All class communications, announcements, assignment guidelines, and homework submissions will be done through it. Note that it uses the email address assigned to you by the University, so it is your responsibility to have an electronic mail forwarded to your main email address.

Academic Integrity

The University has recently updated its policy on Academic Integrity and the penalties for plagiarism and cheating:  http://www.cuhk.edu.hk/policy/academichonesty/Eng.htm_files%282013-14%29/p06.htm Read it carefully: every student is expected to comply with the policy; otherwise, if you are suspected of violating these obligations you will be subject to the outlined sanctions. If you have any questions, do not hesitate to ask me or your TA about this!
Special Accommodation
If you need special accommodations or classroom modifications, you need to notify both me and the University’s Wellness and Counselling Center (https://www2.osa.cuhk.edu.hk/disability/en-GB) no later than the third week of class.

Technology and Cell Phones
Although I recognize the value of technology in aiding the learning process, I also understand that it can be a major hindrance to learning, when used inappropriately. Therefore, the use of laptops and mobile phones is not permitted in class (unless it is necessary for class activities). Mobile phones must be kept in your bags, turned off, or on silent mode (NOT on vibrate) as to avoid distracting your peers. E-readers and tablets are allowed only during tutorials when we discuss assigned articles and you need the texts in front of you. Remember, browsing Facebook or any other website during the class distracts not only you but also persons sitting next to you, and such conduct is disrespectful to me and your classmates. Therefore, disruptions caused by phone calls, texting, emailing, or the use of any other communication technologies during a class will result in the reduction of your final grade. If you are expecting an important call, you should talk to me before the class.

Classroom Recording
To ensure the free and open discussion of ideas, you may not record lectures and/or activities during the class or tutorials without my permission in advance, solely for your own private use.

Late Work and Absence
Late or incomplete assignments will be marked down: a grade will be subtracted for each late day. Class attendance is not required, but if you miss a class, it is your responsibility to copy class notes and go over the powerpoint presentations, otherwise, it will most likely result in poor understanding of class material and, ultimately, in a low grade. You are welcome to come to my office during office hours to go over the missed lectures!

Discussion Rules
We will discuss many interesting, important and potentially controversial topics. I expect you to be polite and respectful of your classmates’ opinions, limit your statements to academic (not emotional) arguments, and not use offensive language or judgmental statements.

Grade Review
If you want to discuss and contest your grade, you can send me an email to set up an appointment during my office hours when we will go over your exam/written work and decide on a grade together. During this process, I can both mark your original grade up, if you demonstrate evidence that you know the material well, or mark it down.

Independent Learning Center
If you need help with communication and learning skills, the University has a great resource for you. You can schedule a consultation or attend workshops on various strategies for improving learning outcomes https://www.ilc.cuhk.edu.hk/EN/mission.aspx

Coffee with the Teacher
To facilitate your success in this class, I will organize two informal sessions before the midterm exam and before the finals when you can meet with me to talk about any course-related questions outside the classroom, over coffee. The date and time TBD.
